IV. FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

29. On or about July 1, 2018, Defendant Webb was hired as Defendant Union's Sixth President since its inception in 1964. At the time of Defendant Webb's hiring, Defendant Union had a roughly $6.3 million budget surplus and a $3 million dollar endowment.

30. In 2019, after Defendant Webb's first year as President of Defendant Union, the university had a decline in revenue of 20% and posted a $1.7 million loss.

31. In 2020, Defendant Union's annual losses increased to $2.6 million. An auditor of Defendant Union raised substantial doubts about Defendant Union's ability to continue operating.

32. In 2021, three years after Defendant Webb took over as President, Defendant Union was forced to sell its headquarters. On or about July 2021, Defendant Union sold the building and additional land for a loss.

33. COVID-19 allowed Defendant Union to receive $4.1 million in federal grants in 2021 and 2022, compared to the $535,000 in previous years. This boosted 2021's revenue 16%. Despite the boost in revenue, Defendant Union still lost $794,018 for the year.

34. During Defendant Webb's Presidency, Defendant Union was subject to a 41% decrease in revenue from tuition and fees while program service expenses increased. Defendant Union's total student headcount dropped 36% and the full-time enrollment dropped 69% from 2017 to 2021.

35. In 2022, Defendant Union lost $539,668. This brought the total losses under Defendant Webb's leadership to $5.6 million. After four years with Defendant Webb as its President, Defendant Union had $5 million less in cash than when she first took over and the endowment dropped to only $2.1 million.

36. On or about April of 2022, Defendant Union established a line of credit with Fifth Third Bank in 2022 that had to be paid off by January of 2023. Plaintiffs do not know the status of this loan.

37. Plaintiffs all worked for Defendant Union during the 2023 calendar year.

38. Plaintiffs consist of employee faculty members and administrative employees at Defendant Union.

40. Defendant Board and Board Defendants oversee all operations at Defendant Union, including Defendant Union's finances, fiscal responsibility, payroll practices, policies, and procedures, and the job performance of Defendant Webb. Defendant Webb is the President of Defendant Union and oversees the agenda of Defendant Board and Board Defendants.

41. In June 2023, Plaintiffs and their colleagues took a vote of no confidence in Defendant Webb. Defendant Board took no corrective action.

42. On or about June 20, 2023, many Plaintiffs were provided with written employment contracts. These contracts renewed their employment contract with Defendant Union for the 2023-2024 academic year.

43. The renewed employment contracts provide for certain wages and benefits to be paid to these Plaintiffs by Defendant Union.

44. Many other Plaintiffs were provided verbal contracts and promises ensuring an ongoing employment relationship.

45. Defendant Webb and Board Defendants were aware that Plaintiffs are entitled to pay for work performed and benefits owed under contracts and ongoing employment relationships.

46. Since at least December of 2022, Defendants have failed to pay or made late payments to Plaintiffs for work performed and benefits owed under the employment contracts and ongoing employment relationships on multiple occasions.

47. Since at least July of 2023, Defendants have failed to pay Plaintiffs for any hours worked and/or for benefits owed.

48. Since that time Defendant Webb, in her capacity as President of Defendant Union, has repeatedly reassured Plaintiffs that they will be paid for their past and ongoing work.

49. Many Plaintiffs continue to work but have not received any wages or benefits for months.

50. On or about September 6, 2023, Defendant Webb, in her capacity as President of Defendant Union, held a town hall event. During the event, she reassured employees that their benefits were still intact.

51. Many Plaintiffs relied on Defendant Webb's promises that their benefits were still available and received medical treatment. Plaintiffs learned shortly thereafter that their benefits were retroactively revoked on June 30, 2023.

52. Many Plaintiffs had insurance premiums deducted from their wages in early and mid- 2023. By information and belief, those premiums intended for health insurance benefits were misappropriated by Defendants.

53. Many Plaintiffs have lost their life insurance benefits.

54. Many Plaintiffs learned in October 2023 that their Health Savings Accounts were locked out by Defendants.

55. Many Plaintiffs filed for unemployment benefits and learned Defendant Union failed to pay unemployment taxes, thus interfering with Plaintiffs' abilities to lawfully obtain unemployment.

56. On or about the week of November 10, 2023, Plaintiffs were notified that the "Fall 2" session for undergraduates and master's programs were cancelled, but that courses would resume in January. The notification came with a statement that Defendant Union would use November and December to reorganize and restructure to "Become a Better Union."

57. Many Plaintiffs continue to fulfill their obligations under their employment contracts. Many other Plaintiffs continue to work despite not being underwritten contract. These employees continue to work to ensure the students can graduate.

58. As a result of Defendants' failure to pay Plaintiffs for work performed, Plaintiffs have incurred damages.

59. As a result of Defendants' failure to pay Plaintiffs for benefits owed, Plaintiffs have lost benefits which include but are not limited to health insurance.
